RACING

Racing bikes are simply the lightest, fastest bicycles in the world. These bikes utilize the very latest in performance materials (such as carbon fiber) and components. Racing bikes feature aerodynamic designs and put the rider in an aerodynamic position. Whether you want to race or just ride fast on the road, there are no faster bikes!

PERFORMANCE

This is one of the faster growing categories. These bikes offer much of the performance of full blown racing bikes, but typically in slightly more affordable versions. They are great for race training, endurance riding, entry-level racers, and hardcore weekend cyclists.

SPORT

Sport bikes have the look and feel of a racing bike, in a slightly more comfortable and highly more affordable package. These bikes are great for fitness, commuting, light touring, and fun road riding.

SPECIALTY ROAD

KHS makes a number of specialty road bikes. These include messenger bikes, touring bikes, triathlon/time trial bikes, gravel bikes, and cyclocross bikes. If there's a specialty road bike you're looking for, there's a high performance specialty road bike from KHS with your name on it!

MOUNTAIN

GRAVITY & DOWNHILL

It's all about getting down the hill on these bikes. It might be about going fast, getting air, or riding style, but what these bikes share in common is long travel (up to 200mm) suspension, high performance componentry, and durability to keep riders pointed downhill...fast.

ENDURO & ALL MOUNTAIN

These are performance mountain bikes, usually with around 160mm of suspension travel, and much more able to ride uphill than gravity bikes. Still able performers downhill, these are plush, rugged and performance-oriented mountain rides.

TRAIL

Trail bikes have become synonymous with all around mountain bikes. With typically 140–150mm of suspension travel, these bikes are great on dirt roads, trails, singletrack, gravel, and even rugged paved roads. New this year are plus-tire models featuring “boost” hubs and cranks. These bikes are fun to ride, and are the SUV's of the mountain bike world.

XC (CROSS COUNTRY)

XC bikes are mountain bikes' equivalent of road racing bikes. They are light and fast, and designed to deliver performance. They will typically have shorter travel (120mm or less), sometimes suspension in the rear, though sometimes “hardtails.” The top cross country mountain bike racers of the world race on these bikes.

XC SPORT

This mountain bike category features all-around performance, short but effective front suspension, sometimes rear suspension, and affordable pricepoints. These bikes come in Traditional and Plus wheel sizes.

FOUR SEASONS

Also known as “fat bikes,” these models feature ultra-wide tires that allow riders to take on snow, sand, rocks, trails, and just about any other obstacle. They are easy to pedal, lighter than you'd expect, and just plain fun to take out and ride.

ULTRASPORT

These bikes are a hybrid between mountain and road bikes. They are lighter than most mountain bikes, so they are great on roads. They are also more durable than road bikes, so they can take on trails and roads less traveled. These are some of the most versatile bikes available.

COMFORT

COMFORT BIKES

Shouldn't all bikes be comfortable? You would think so, but many types of bicycle are designed for specific types of riding. Comfort bikes, on the other hand, are designed to be very easy and comfortable to ride. The riding position is typically more upright, putting less stress on the back, hips, shoulders and arms. These bikes also typically cushy saddles and grips, easy shifting gears, and often suspension forks as well.

SMOOTHIE

Smoothie bicycles feature our special Easy-Ride™ design. This lets you ride comfortably, but more importantly, sit slightly back and lower to let you still have your feet easily touch the ground.

TC

For more than a decade our TC line has been a top seller. These 26" wheeled bikes look similar to mountain bikes, but with multi-purpose tires, a more comfortable riding position, and comfy grips and saddle.

HYBRID

These bikes are much like our TC line, but with 700c wheels that are suited perfectly to streets, roads, bike paths, and light trails.
