The Ingham county farmers club stands unique among the rural community clubs of Michigan. No other club in the state approaches its record for continued existence. When first organized in 1872 there were two other farmers clubs in the state, one in Cass county and another in Macomb. Both these clubs long since since passed out of existence but the Ingham county club has continued without interruption. At first the club was for men only, holding its meetings in a hall in Mason on certain Saturday afternoons. A large American flag would be hoisted outside the meeting place to indicate to the farmers in town that the club was in session. Farm practices, the advantages of certain breeds of livestock and the good qualities of certain varicties of corn, wheat and other farm seeds would be extolled and debated.

Another outstanding feature of the years, the club has had but five pres-D. L. Cady, grandfather of same farm, was the first president, soon being succeeded by Amos F. Wood, prominent stock breeder and farmer, whose daughter, Mrs. J. E. Tanswell, still resides on the same farm. Mr. Wood served as president for 26 years. He was succeeded by L. H. Ives, who had been secretary for many years. Mr. Ives was succeeded in the office of secretary by a daughter of the former club president, Mrs. J. E. Tanswell, who held that office for 27 years, relinquishing it when her sister, Mrs. Myra Chency, was elected president. Meanwhile the club had changed its plan to include the women, the meetings being held at the homes of members. Following the retirement of L. H. The salary list was cut to $7925. Included among the reasons set forth in the resolutions unanimously adopted at Monday's session of the school board, are found references to the economic depression affecting individuals and corporations alike, the staggering amounts to which the property tax levy has grown; the necessity for every governing unit to exert every effort to reduce public expense; the liklihood of delinquent taxes and reduced primary school interest funds eating into the revenue SUP. Among the plans suggested for reducing the budget are included a rearrangement of courses of study to eliminate the special teacher of music, leaving the grade music to be taught by the respective teachers, and the direction of high school choral groups to be undertaken as extra curricular activities. The high school courses of study are also to be arranged so as to do with one less teacher in that department, each teacher assuming a portion of the burden and outside activities being cut to the minimum to conserve the energies of the faculty.

The schedule of salaries adopted with the reductions both in salaries and in the number of teachers employed brings this item of the budget to $29,350 as compared to $37,275 in 1931, the records disclose. VERAGE TEMPERATURE FOR MONTH ABOVE FREEZING.

December established a new record for warm weather in this section of the state. The average temperature for the month was just 33.5 degrees. The average maximum was an even at ten o'clock on Monday, January 18. 40 degrees. The average minimum was 27 degrees. The average temperature over a period of years is 27.2 degrees, 6.3 degrees lower than the past month. The figures are taken from the records kept by M. M. Bowers at the city disposal plant.

The rainfall was also heavy, 2.86 inches during the month. The average rainfall over a period of years has been 2.07 inches, the past month Unlike the sessions of years average. The rainfall for the year is

A peculiar occurance during the month was the thunderstorm on Dees. There was but three inches of snow during the month and none of it lasted over 24 hours. There were seven days when rain came down. The highest temperature of the month was December 24 when the mercury mounted to 50 degrees. The only cold day was December 8 when the mercury dropped to eight degrees.

The Home Town

During the holiday season the home town sees many of its sons and daughters return to the parental roof for Yuletide reunions. Mason has had its share in this delightful renewal of old friendships and family ties during the past fortnight.

Twice during the past week this writer has had the pleasure of confidential talks with young men in their early thirties who left the home town soon after gradunting from high school. One lives in one of the large cities of the country. The other has been in the west. Each volunteered a statement, the second being in entire ignorance of what the other had said on the day previous. The young man whose home is in a bustling city is a successful business man. He owns his home in a fashionable section of the city and has a most delightful wife and daughter. To most of his boyhood friends he stands in the light of home pride in his achievements. He stated to this writer that when he left high school and began casting about for an opening he was convinced that Mason was no place for him to begin. And yet, said he, when he returns to find some of his boyhood companions living so delightfully and enjoying so many avenues of happiness which is denied the metropolitan resident, he is convinced that success in life is not measured by salary or position nor yet by a fine home on a fashionable

The westerner expressed identically the same thought only in different language. His success is not so significant and yet he by no means has made a failure. He did say however that he was convinced of the fact that extreme ambition is not a good attribute, that if he had accepted a certain opportunity offered him when he returned from the war he would have been much more secure now, and that he had missed many of the happy occasions which his fellows who remained nearer home had enjoyed.

The statements were voluntary. They were not adroitly obtained. They were spoken from the full hearts of mature men who have gone against an unkind and highly competitive world, who have wrested a fair degree of success from their respective positions, but who were touched by the friendly companionship, the delightful social relationships, and the wholesome atmosphere in which their children are reared.

Life is not measured in population figures, in towering snafts of stone, in bank clearances, nor in the white light of metropolitan nights. Life is sweet if it is lived sweetly. It is hollow mockery if in its midst the liver is convinced that it is leading nowhere except to a sordid existence or to an everlasting struggle after the baubles which some call life.

Tax Limitation

A great deal of interest is being created in the proposed amendment to the Michigan constitution which, if adopted, would limit taxation for all purposes to $15.00 on each $1,000 of assessed valuation of the taxable property of Michigan.

Adoption of the amendment would force a complete revision of all present taxing laws. Perhaps this forms the one best reason for its adoption. To place such a limit upon total taxes, necessarily requires that proportionate limitations be placed upon each taxing authority or the creation of some central authority to settle differences arising. For instance to permit township, village and city authorities to levy taxes as at present to be followed in turn by school district, county and state taxation bodies, each with unlimited authority, would result in confusion and probable destruction of all revenue

On the other hand to arbitrarily limit any one of these of the state is not concerned. groups in the matter of taxation might result in an entire breaking down of local government.

A possible solution lies in limiting local taxation for governmental and educational purposes, leaving the state to secure its revenues from more indirect sources. However to permit this to be done without limitations might again result in equally heavy or even greater burdens of taxation being heaped upon the people in forms other than the property tax. There are more sensible ways of tax reform than proposed in the Michigan Farmer amendment. Nevertheless it must be admitted that attempts thus far made by property owners to extricate themselves from the overwhelming burden of taxation have not resulted in relief. Drastic methods such as will be necessary if the $15 limitation is written into the constitution, may be the only recourse left to those unfortunate enough to own Michigan real estate.

A certain department of state government has announced with much gusto a reduction of salaries among employees amounting to ten per cent. Considerable emphasis is placed upon the fact that the reductions range from $750 to $120.

One hundred and twenty dollars taken from the salary of a $1200 clerk leaves him $1080 on which to support his family. $750 taken from the salary of the chief leaves him $6750 plus perquisites in the form of luxurious motor cars, hotel accommodations and traveling expense. When it is remembered that in most cases the chief never was paid in private life more than a fraction of his present salary, his voluntary contribution to the general fund of the state is not so much.

The editor of the Linden, Michigan, Leader, J. E. McMullen, is a former minister of the gospel. Concerning recent references to the assertion of Luren D. Dickinson, lieutenant governor of Michigan and presiding officer of the state senate, Editor McMullen makes the following very appropriate comment:

"What Lieut, Gov. Dickinson tells the Lord in the prayer closet should be strictly confidential between the two and not spouted from the housetop to the multitude of sinners, for it is apt to get the Lord in bad."

Of course no one goes to a dirty play or sex-sopped picture because he himself is vile; he merely goes to dertaker's copy that some of his prospects are atill by a local operation and necessary check up the vileness of the rest of the audience.

Dancers Must Pay The Fiddlers

Some degree of sanity may be said to have been brought to bear upon the Covert road bond situation as it exists in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Monroe and St. latter. Clair counties in the southeastern portion of the state and in Berrien county in the southwestern. In all these counties the construction of concrete highways has gone on at a mad pace set by realtors who looked upon paved roads as the surest way to dispose of their suburban plattings. Today there are outstanding in these six counties approximately $37,000,000 of unpaid bonds. Under the Covert special assessment district plan the great burden of the special tax was placed against the property lying within the special assessment districts set up as a part of each project procedure. There is no question of the solvency of the municipalities involved. The problem rests rather with the individual owners of property, in many instances loaded with alleged special at the New Years dance held at the he diddert reely steel the muney. benefit taxes far in excess of the present sale value of opera house. the land. Ambitious hopes for vast building programs of course have meanwhile faded, only the real estate salesman who bought acreage and platted and sold it to gullible purchasers having profited in the deal.

It is probable that out of the present agitation there will result a plan whereby the counties involved may be nermitted to use their share of motor license receipts in Huntington who is retiring as circuit paying off these bonds. Meanwhile the counties will be judge. Many distinguished lawyers authorized to refinance the projects, readjusting the special benefits to adjoining lands in accordance with actual rather than fancied benefits.

Such a plan will make necessary a vacation in further by Judge Gridley. road building in the districts affected, at least until a sufficient amount of the bonded indebtedness is retired. Such a plan also will permit other counties where common sense has heretofore prevailed to continue with an orderly construction program in accordance with the ability of their taxpayers to meet the cost. It is possible that an extra cent of tax on gasoline may be levied to care for the burden of taking over, improving and maintaining township roads heretofore a direct burden against the farmer. Only a few minor enabling statutes are required to accomplish such a plan. Meanwhile the counties which have been clamoring for state aid will sober down and consider their problems as of their own crea tion the solution of which is their own responsibility.

The law under which such foolish ventures as have resulted in the practical confiscation of many Michigan farms, has already been amended to make a recurrence of the orgy of drunken extravagance impossible. Designed in the first place only as a means of constructing arterial county and state highways at a time when a gravel road was considered good enough and $6000 per mile a high cost, the system literally broke down when stance which acts as a poison to the superhighways costing more than ten times $6,000 per skin. Echave been built to accommodate a phantom population zema is common in many industries and taxes spread against farm lands on an acreage basis, have resulted in similar confiscation of property values. These laws too have been drastically amended to prevent similar future ventures.

A New Trend

A new trend in union labor thought is found in the recent action of the American Federation of Full Fashion cular article which the patient knows Hosiery Workers. This group of workers voluntarily to be deleterious. cut their wages by more than 50 per cent in order to permit their employers to compete in an underselling and price-cutting war which had attacked that industry.

The agreement under which the voluntary slash in wages is offered includes an ironclad agreement that condition may clear up immediately. union employers must also cut their own profits to the surface by avoiding water and exquick. This has been agreed to in an effort to save large tremes of temperature. The distinctively novel situation is found, not in the fact that such action has been taken, but that the demand for it came from the laborers themselves.

Furthermore the situation brings distrust to other union workers that the leadership of President Green is altogether wise. Union labor has its place in industrial lesion, life. But that place is not altogether filled by a mere fixing of wages. After all the real value of a pay check lies in its total per week or for the year rather than in the price set for an hour.

What's New in the New Chevrolet Six

When you read what's new in the new Chevrolet Six, you, too, will agree it's the Great American Value for 1932.

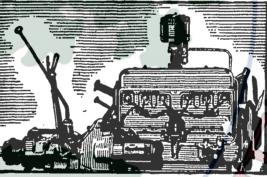

It is the only low-priced car to offer both Syncro-Mesh and Free Wheeling in combination. It has engine and chassis improvements that raise performance to new heights of power, speed and smoothness. It provides the finest Fisher bodies Chevrolet has ever introduced. And it maintains the same factors of dependability and economy that have won the approval of millions of Chevrolet owners

All that has proved to be sound and dependable in the past, plus all the new advancements given below-at one of the lowest prices in the market! That's why the new Chevrolet Six is the Great American Value for 1932!

Silent Syncro-Mesh Transmission

This well-known feature of high-priced cars is the finest type of transmission ever developed. In the new Chevsolet Six, it brings a new type of handling case and car control to the low-price field. Syncro-Mesh permits you to shift gears with marvelous quickness, quietness and ease. As a safety factor, it is especially valuable. For it enables you to shift rapidly from high back into second, any time you want to use the engine as a brake.

A Smoother, Improved Six-Cylinder Engine New experiences await you in the Chevrolet Six-new thrills in power, pick-up, smoothness and speed. For Chevrolet has introduced many new engine-teatures that increase power 20 per cent to 60 horsepower, and make Chevrolet's built-in six-cylinder smoothness even smoother. These features include down-draft carburetion, a new cylinder head, new manifolding, a counterbalanced crankshaft and rubber engine mountings. And you can shift with magical simplicity and case.

Simplified Free Tyheeling Chevrolet's Free Wheeling mechanism is a new and advanced type that is extremely simple in construction. You may take advantage of its thrills whenever you want to, by simply pressing a button on the dash. Thereafter, and until you pull the button out again you are "in" Free Wheeling. You coast along on momentum every time your foot is off the accelerator.

65 to 70 Miles an Hour with

Faster Acceleration Vital new features introduced into Chevrolet's six-cylinder engine enable it to develop 65 to 70 miles an hour with astonishing ease, stability and smoothness. And ston-watch tests show an acceleration from 0 to 35 miles in 6.7 seconds.

Down-Draft Carburetion

The down-draft carburetor is a big factor in Chevrolet's greater power, speed and pick-up. An intake silencer combined with it assures greater quietness. A heat control device, operated from the dash, warms up the engine quickly and provides more efficient operation in cold weather.

Distinctive New Front-End

Appearance The new chromium-plated elliptical radiator, built-in radiator grille, double tiebar, trumpet-type horn, and bullet-type headlamps form a front-end ensemble of arresting beauty, enhanced by new rectangular, adjustable hood-ports.

Stabilized

Front-End Mounting An ingenious method of mounting front fenders, lamps, double tie-bar and radiator securely to the frame - a method exclusive to Chevrolet—stabilizes the whole front-end assembly and insures steadiness when driving over rough roads.

Smart New Fisher Bodies Chevrolet's new Fisher bodies are the smartest bodies ever to appear in the low-price field. Moreover, Fisher craftsmen have added many new elements of strength, quietness and solidity to the wood-and-steel construction. Greater vision is provided for all occupants.

Finger-Touch Front Seat

One of the most interesting conveniences in the new Fisher bodies is the new type of adjustable front seat. A touch of the finger on a lever at the left of the cushions, and you can move the seat to any desired position. This feature is exclusive to Chevrolet in the lowest-price field.

And the following Chevrolet features that have won the approval of millions of owners: Big, powerful Four-Wheel Brakes . . . Four Hydraulic Shock Absorbers . . . Four long Semi-Elliptic Springs . . . Full Length Frame . . . Insulated Driver's Compartment
