Dear User

Welcome to the city of Berne. Here you will find plenty of information about hotels, restaurants, places of interest, public transport and further interesting tips.

This city guide has been especially created for people with limited mobility and elderly people.

We would like to thank the sponsors of this project, the Disability Conference Berne, the City Guide AG and our colleagues with limited mobility who have contributed in making this project a reality.

And now we wish you lots of fun during your stay in the city of Berne!

Bear Pit (Bärengraben)

According to tradition the founder of the City of Berne, Berchtold V. von Zähringen slayed a bear on the Aare peninsula, this gave the city its name and is symbolized on the coat of arms of Berne to this day. Today's Bear pit has been at the same location since 1857. The Bear pit was largely restored in 1995/96 to provide the bears with a more natural habitat. Today two Pyrenean brown bears (Pedro and Tana) inhabit the enclosure.

The bears a free daily between:

09.30 - 17.00

Bear Park (Bärenpark)

Today's Bear pit will be transformed into a Bear Park in the future. The project was launched in April 2003 and plans to provide the two bears with a 10,000m2 park. The new park will be open 24 hours a day and pathways circumventing the park will offer visitors a good insight into "Bear life". Additionally there will be technical assistance available to help visitors locate the bears, which will wander freely through the park all year round (they will rest in caves in the winter). Furthermore the bears to have access to the waters of the River Aare for swimming and fishing for the first time ever.

City Hall (Rathaus)

www.berninfo.com

In its longstanding history the City Hall has survived the Burgunder War, the Reformation and the revolution. To this day it is still the seat of the Cantonal government, where the Bernese council meets five times annually.

The proceedings of the Council are never open to the public.

The Granary (Kornhaus)

www.kornhaus.org

The granary was transformed into a public bar in 1893 after having lost the use of its original function at the beginning of the 19th Century. The new granary was reopened in 1998 in the centre of the City of Berne. A multi-faceted cultural and meeting place in the centre of town was established with the Kornhaus stage of the City theatre, the Kornhaus Library, a specialized library for art and design, the Forum for media and design and the two restaurants; the Kornhauskeller and –Café.

Today, painted on the pillars within the Kornhaus bar are 12 of the most important Bernese women's traditional costumes, in the archways there are 31 musicians in the traditional German male costumes of the renaissance. There are also many other mythological figures portrayed on the walls including the man on the moon, the dragon, the mermaid, the lady of the well and others. The result is a folkloristic panorama that reflects the characters of a colourful history book.

The Clock Tower (Zytglogge)

www.berninfo.com

The Clock Tower (Zeitglockenturm) was Berne's first western city gate (1191 - 1256) and formed the boundary of the first city extension. Today it is one of Berne's most important sights. The ornate astronomical calendar clock was created in 1530.

The tower clock was the city's main clock and therefore had an authoritative function in Berne. It was from there that travel times indicated on the hour stones along the cantonal roads were measured. Length units - formerly cubit and fathom, today meter and double meter - for public inspection are displayed in the arch of the gate.

The Federal Palace (Bundeshaus)

www.bundeshaus.ch

The construction of the Federal palace (today Federal building west wing) began as early as 1852. In 1884 it was completed with a replicating east wing and finally in 1902 it was developed further when the central parliamentary building was completed. Altogether 38 artists from all over Switzerland were responsible for decorating the building. The Federal Palace is seat of the Swiss government (Bundesrat or Federal Council) and the Swiss National Assembly. Numerous symbolic representations of Swiss history can be found on the walls in the central domed hall and in both Council halls.

The Cathedral (Münster)

www.bernermuenster.ch

The Cathedral is the most impressive late gothic building in the city of Berne. The basilica overlooks the roofs of the old town. The Cathedral is the largest religious building in Switzerland. The construction began in 1421 and for over a generation craftsmen worked on this master piece. The tower which is 100 metres in height was only completed in 1893. The entrance portal is an outstanding feature, in which the Christian belief of the Last Judgment, where the wicked will be separated from the righteous is portrayed. This sculpture shows the wicked naked on the left, while the righteous stand clothed in white on the right. In the center is Justice, with Saints and the wise and foolish virgins around her. In the center stands Michael the Archangel with a raised sword.

From the highest church tower in Switzerland visitors have a magnificent view over the city and far into the Bernese midlands and the snow capped mountains of the Bernese Oberland.

Rose Garden (Rosengarten)

www.rosengarten.be

The rose garden is a large-scale park with a beautiful view of the Old Town and the meandering river Aare. There are 220 different types of roses to be found in the park, 200 types of Iris's and bog gardens with 28 different sorts of Rhododendrons. From 1765 - 1877 the rose garden was used as grave yard for the lower city. Since 1913 the rose garden has been open to the public with a lush floral landscape and bog gardens. Between 1956 - 62 was rearranged and planted with Rhododendrons and azaleas as well as an Iris garden. A pavilion and a reading garden offer opportunities to relax. The rose garden restaurant also invites you to linger a while and reveals a splendid view of the old town terraces.

Today numerous fountains call to mind the heroes and past historical events of Berne.

There are well over 100 fountains in Berne. 11 of them to this day feature the original statues with their beautiful allegorical figures. These fountains - Gerechtigkei (Justice), Chindlifresser (Ogre), Zähringen and many more – dating from the 16th century bear testimony to the wealth of the bourgeoisie at that time.

The Prison Tower (Käfigturm)

www.berninfo.com

The Käfigturm is Berne's second tower and was the second western city gate. The tower was erected from 1256 to 1344 and served as a prison in the period from 1641 to 1643 and continued as such until 1897. The clock was added in 1961. In the period from 1977 to 1979 both the interior and exterior of the Prison Tower underwent complete renovation. Since 1999 the Prison Tower has served a new purpose. It is the seat of the Confederation's Political Forum and regularly hosts exhibitions and events relating to political issues.

Schwellenmätteli

www.schwellenmaetteli.ch

The river Aare shapes the city of Berne with its unmistakable charm in a unique way and is very inviting for leisurely walks along its banks. Directly on the banks of the Aare and still in the heart of the city lies the Schwellenmätteli Restaurant. On location one gets the impression of being on an island and holiday feelings arise. Therefore it's not a coincidence that it is named "Riviera Restaurants". Schwellenmätteli is a gastronomical and cultural oasis and has established itself as a new tourist attraction in Berne. Altogether there are three buildings: "Terrasse", "Casa" and "Kultur-Lounge". There is a different atmosphere to be experienced in all three buildings and welcome visitors to chill out and relax. Swimming over the river Aare the "Terrasse" offers an attractive platform in summer time, with a restaurant-, bar- and lounge. The "Casa" consists of three connected rustic rooms and offer a comfortable atmosphere in the old timber framed building. The Lounge is a multi-cultural bar, with a banquet and seminar rooms.

Meanwhile on Fridays and Saturdays special programmes with music, dance and culture are possible thanks to late opening hours till 03.30am.
